INTRODUCTION

Michael Yoshitaka Erlewine and Yosuke Sato

GLOW in Asia XI was held at the National University of Singapore, February 20–22, 2017, hosted by the Department of English Language & Literature. We are proud to have had this opportunity to host the first GLOW in Asia meeting in Southeast Asia. Approximately 100 scholars participated in total, resulting in a vibrant and stimulating event. The meeting was characterized by the diversity of languages and regions represented, attracting leading and emerging scholars from across as well as beyond Asia.

In addition to plenary talks by Edith Aldridge, Rajesh Bhatt, and Timothy J. Vance, 16 oral presentations and 22 poster presentations were given across three days. We are pleased to present this two-volume collection of 34 papers from the meeting.

The 38 regular talks and posters were chosen out of 166 abstracts received, for an overall acceptance rate of 23%. These abstracts were expertly reviewed by the following 193 reviewers. Our job of organizing this high quality program would not have been possible without their work, and the presentations and resulting papers benefited greatly from their thoughtful comments. We thank these reviewers for sharing their time and expertise, and for their support of GLOW in Asia.

We also thank the administrative staff at the Department of English Language & Literature for various forms of assistance to make this conference possible, including Angeline Ang, Irene Chan, Sally Cheng, Audrey Li, and Cindy Lim.

We also would like to thank the executive committee members of GLOW in Asia for their feedback on various aspects of the organization of this conference. We especially thank Mamoru Saito for initially inviting us to host the GLOW in Asia meeting at NUS and for much needed moral support since. Lionel Wee also deserves special mention, both as the former head of our Department and now as Vice Dean for Research for his constant academic support and encouragement to host this conference since we first floated the idea of hosting GLOW in Asia at NUS.

GLOW in Asia XI was made possible through a Academic Research Fund grant from the Singapore Ministry of Education, WBS R-103-000-136-112, which is gratefully acknowledged. We also thank our home Department of English Language & Literature and John Richardson for generously contributing general Department funds to support graduate student travel to the conference. Finally, we thank Lauren Koh, Cara Leong, and Hannah Lin for their editorial assistance in preparing the papers in this volume for publications.
